

MIDDLE CHILDHOOD EDUCATION

We prepare students to teach, change lives, and impact communities. The Middle Childhood Education (MCE) program is both a major and a pathway to a teaching license. Students who pursue a Bachelor of Arts degree with an MCE major can be teachers for grades 4-9. MCE students will focus on two chosen concentrations from the areas of language arts, mathematics, science, or social studies.

SCAN TO FIND:

- Featured courses.
- Program requirements and more!

BEYOND THE CLASSROOM

HANDS-ON EXPERIENCE

Field experiences begin in the sophomore year, with Service Learning experiences in area schools. This continues into the junior year with a practicum in literacy. During their senior year, students complete a practicum experience in two chosen content areas. This is followed by a student teaching experience in two of the student's content areas in the subsequent semester.

Initial licensure programs are accredited by the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation.

National Council on Teacher Quality

A+ rating from the National Council on Teacher Quality

AFFORDABLE EDUCATION

$16,000

TEACH GRANT

The College Cost Reduction and Access Act of 2007 created the Teacher Education Assistance for College and Higher Education (TEACH) Grant program which will allow eligible students to be awarded up to $4,000 per year (Maximum $16,000 during a 4-Year Program). For eligibility requirements, visit msj.edu/grants.

CAREERS IN MIDDLE CHILDHOOD EDUCATION

TEACHER

TUTOR/
ACADEMIC COACH

ATHLETIC/EXTRACURRICULAR COACH

SCHOOL LEADER

HIGHER EDUCATION

EDUCATIONAL OUTREACH

ALUMNI SUCCESS

100%

CAREER OUTCOMES RATE

100% of 2023 School of Education graduates were successfully employed, enrolled in graduate studies, or volunteering within six months of graduation. The knowledge rate for this survey was 77.7%.

MOUNT ST. JOSEPH UNIVERSITY®

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

Office of Admission
513-244-4531 | 800-654-9314
msj.edu | admission@msj.edu

Laura Saylor, Ph.D.
Dean, School of Education
laura.saylor@msj.edu